THE STATE OF TRADE

ness Situation. EFFECT OF THE MILD WEATHER.

It Caused a Depression in Certain Lines --- Railroad Earnings Gratifying---Enormous Exports of Grain. An Encouraging Financial Outlook.

Special telegrams to Bradatreet's renew previous reports of a general slackening up of the movement of general trade from jobbers and producers, which appears to include nearly all lines except those of leading cereals. Mild weather, which continued until within two days, added a depression to staple lines, such as clothing, hats, shoes, woolen and cotton goods of some varieties which they probably would not otherwise have experienced. The lower temperature is too late to stimulate much increase in the demand prior to the new year. Wooled goods manufacturers report demand light. A few lines are active, but at prices in buyers' favor. Raw wool is similarly reported. Staple cottons are quiet but firm. The output of New England mills is curtailed as far as possible, so that the price of raw material does not as yet affect prices of goods. Agents are holding new prints. New ginghams are selling only fairly well. Print cloths are in demand at an advance, and values firm. Stocks of prints have been steadily decreasing at Fall River and Providence, but woolen goods are selling slowly. Leading railroad companies report October net carnings, which aggregate 11.1 per cent more than in October, 1890. For ten months of the current calendar year net carnings reported show an increase over a like portion of 1890 of 6.6 per cent. Gross carnings for October were 8.3 per cent, and for ten months only 3.8 per cent, and for ten months only 3.8 per cent, larger than in like portions of 1890. November and December promise to raise the percentage of gain.

Anthracite coal has gone off slowly year. Wooled goods manufacturers reraise the percentage of gain.

Anthracite coal has gone off slowly owing to mild weather. Increased de-mand for pig iron has not attracted as much attention as was expected, and no change of moment is looked for under a month or two. Increased con-servatism is reported from leading southern centres in trading in exclusive cotton districts owing to depression due to low prices and holding of cotton. Payment of government sugar bounties has helped trade in portions of Louisi-ana. Mercantile collections generally, on the Paying coast and elsaylpers proana. Mercantile collections generally, on the Pacific coast and elsewhere more on the Facilic coast and elsewhere more than expected, have been slower, particularly south. Money, south, has grown tighter. There were 313 business failures in the United States this week, against 380 last week, 370 in the like week of 1890, and, 330 in 1889. There have been reported 11,033 January 1 to to date, or 1,721 more than in a like share of 1890.

Wheat prices have been barely steady, Wheat prices have been barely steady, with alternating periods of weakness and declining prices, noticeably on the Pacific coast, where grain freights are very weak. Montreal has practically ceased exporting grain for the winter, and Portland, Me., and Halifax are beginning to ship a little. Twelve United States ports exported the equivalent of 5,493,000 bushels of wheat this week, against 6,033,000 bushels last week, and as compared with 12,171,000 bushels against 0,05,000 businels has week, and as compared with 12,171,000 businels and 2,872,000 businels respectively, in like weeks of December, 1890 and 1889. The moderate increase of domestic available wheat stocks last week is largely due to the blockade at Buffalo, with a resulting omission of some of the available from the count. Experts of available from the count. Exports of rye from United States ports last week were 597,000 bushels, against 397,000 bushels the week before, and of oats were $01,000 bushels, as contrasted with 520,000 bushels in the preceding week. The improvement in the speculative share market has been stimulated by

The improvement in the speculative share market has been stimulated by the large demand for bonds and the increased activity in that department. The favorable condition of railroad operations and the encouraging financial outlook creates a decided belief in speculative circles that a wider and higher market is at hand, and though the trading in stocks is professional, and at times dull, there have been steady advances in the granger and trunk-line shares, with a corresponding influence on the general list. The New York money market continues in an undisturbed state of ease. Foreign exchange has advanced on increased inquiry for remittances to Europe and the liquidation of foreign leans, but shows symptoms of receding again.

liquidation of foreign loans, but shows symptoms of receding again.

In the Dominion of Canada direct exports of grain and flour have ceased for the winter, Boston, Portland, Me., and Halifax to some extent becoming winter ports for Ontario and Quebec. General trade in those provinces is quiet, and prices, except for wheat, are steady. The total number of business failures in Canada this week is 43, compared with 45 last week and 35 in the parod with 45 last week and 35 in the like week last year. Bank clearings at four Canadian cities this week aggregate $21,410,886, a decrease of 2½ per cent on the week.

DECORATION OF CHURCHES. Flowers and Fruits Tastefully Arranged in Harvest Time.

A great change has arisen in the mode of decorating churches for harvest festivals. A preponderance of flowers is introduced into the sacred edifice.

Few texts and cereal fringes, or any of the hard formal decorations of old times, find their way into churches nowadays, though the tringes have much to be said in their favor, applied to the credence tables and elsewhere. We seem to rely entirely on what nature herself produces—groups of flowering and foliage plants within the altar rails, and sometimes huge palms by the chan-cel screens. The pulpit often rises from a mass of fruit and wheat and is decora mass of fruit and wheat and is decorated with tiger lilies, white chrysanthemums and any other bloom that is to be had. The font is also surrounded with vegetables. Screens are frequently outlined with dahlias, sunflowers and marigolds, and huge natural sized sheaves, decorated with poppies, fined their way into the larger churches. Autumn leaves of varied hue, red, yellow and green are dropped on the altar rails, and a notably-beautiful church had them entwined with leaves the aftar rails, and a notably beautiful church had them entwined with leaves and tendrils of grapes, the bunches of fruit hanging as if they grew there. Crosses of popples and wheat are always most effective, and in some of those churches where the altar is approached by a succession of steps these steps are covered with fruit and vegetables including applies only as notatoes. steps are covered with fruit and vegetables, including apples, onions, potatoes, parsnips, cucumbers, cauliflowers, carrots and marrows; and in one of the English churches at Salisbury last year, butter, eggs and poultry were mingled with the flowers. Dannans and tomatoes are always used with advantage, and Virginia creeper leaves, Pampas grasses and Canadian grasses, with bulmushes and teasels may be placed in corners as an appropriate background. In large edifices, golden-colored gourds, tomatoes, red cabbages, add desirable touches of color. Berries are never to be despised; almost any kinds in season may be used, especially blackbarrs, layers and teaselts. Bradstreet's on the General Busiblackberry leaves and deadly night-shade. A band of wheat fringe, sur-mounted by festoons of deadly night-shade blend well, a tassel of berries between each scallop. Appropriate texts are "Thou crownest the earth with thy goodness," "Oh, give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good" and "The earth is full of the goodness of the Lord,"

Perhaps Tennyson has written nothing which appeals to the hearts of all who read his poems more than the lyric of "Too Late." The burden of the sad of "Too Late." The burden of the sad refrain comes home with telling force to the hearts of those who have lost friends by that dread disease—consumption, They realize, "too late," the result of neglect. They feel that the dear one might have been saved if they had heeded the warning of the hacking cough, the palid cheek, and weakening system. They feel this all the more keenly because the see others being resucued from the grasp of the destroyer. keenly because the see others being rescued from the grasp of the destroyer, and they think what is saving others might have saved their loved one. When the first signal of danger is seen, take steps to avert the catastrophe. Be wise in time. Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will drive away consumption. Do not wait until too late before putting its wonderful efficacy to the test. It succeeds where other remedies fall,

The temper, while strong almost throughout, was beary at times under the pressure of first, the bears, and second, further realizations. Wabash preferred was again very active and strong.
